

Rose of Another Kind

Dave Rowe

5 November 1996

Think it's hard to love another
Think it's wrong to be afraid
Are you feeling sad and lonely
Do you think you should have stayed?

Let me tell you, ain't no right way
You may feel your heart go blind
Every love is like a flower
Just a rose of another kind.

Maybe waiting in the shadows
On a cold and lonely day
May just find you lost and searching
Seems you want to run away.

When the sun sets, yonder night sky
You can hear it calling you
And you're feeling like your lifetime
Just a'running out on you.

So be careful on that highway
All the roads just look the same
May be one you've never traveled
May not be the way you came.